Special thanks to Mom, Dad, Bronwyn, Aidan, and Henry for all their continued love and support. www.michaelabailey.com

She recently obtained her B.A. in Operatic Vocal Performance from Drake University in 2020 and is excited to further her artistic training and career here at The Barrow Group. While she is sad her time here is coming to an end, she's excited to dive into auditioning for theatre, film, and musical theatre here in the city.

Melissa Parker Caron

is an Asian-mixed-race actor, improv comedian, and Voice Over artist, among many creative abilities. She started her career in Orlando, FL as a musician and vocalist, touring the country in indie-rock bands. Transitioning to acting, Melissa honed her skills in improv theater at esteemed venues like The PIT, Magnet, and UCB in New York City. Her creativity extended to writing and performing her own one-woman solo show, "Dorothy in Wonderland," which explores themes of adulthood, miscarriage, and self-worth. She also co-hosted "The Shout Hooray Show," a lively variety show for babies and toddlers. Alongside her involvement in Redshirts: the all-women Star Trek themed musical improv troupe, Melissa is a cast member of Shot4Shot at The Armory

Comedy. Additionally, she is currently completing the 1-Year Professional Acting Program at The Barrow Group. When she isn't gracing the stage or screen, Melissa can be found speaking into microphones, walking dogs, or indulging in her love for crafting.

Thane Madsen

Thane's professional career started in the Philadelphia area in 2016 with independent shorts. He then became a Resident Company Member at Hedgerow Theater Company in Media, PA, America's oldest and longest running repertory theater. While there he dove headfirst into the conception, production and collaboration of theater arts for almost 3 years. Some of his favorite roles as a member of the company include: Macbeth (Macbeth), Young Scrooge (A Christmas Carol), Proteus (Two Gentlemen of Verona), Louise The Maid (Private Lives), Jonathan Harker (Dracula: The Bloody Truth), as well as countless children's theater heroes and villains. Since leaving the Philadelphia area he has had the opportunities to play with the Veteran's Repertory Theater on multiple occasions and Millbrook Playhouse in Ken Ludwig's Dear Jack, Dear Louise as Jack. In addition to acting he loves the guitar, singing, woodworking, writing and tabletop games. Thane would like to say that his time with The Barrow Group's 1-Year Program has been invaluable to his growth as a storyteller and he can't wait to see where it leads him next. "As always, all my love to my family, castmates/classmates, and M."
